Project Title: Implementation of Craigslist

Website: BucketList

Project Description: It is an advertisement website with different sections for finding jobs, housing and for sale. A new user is required to Sign-up in BucketList to post and access things available in the website. During Sign-up the user should provide a unique username and a strong password with a unique email id. No two user can have same email-id. Once the user has signed-in they can see all the available products on the website. The user can update, delete (soft delete), repost an existing product which that user had posted earlier. An assumption that has been made is, during posting a new product the description of the product should not contain any apostrophe.
